Dear Karim Asad Ahmad Khan KC,

We are writing to draw your attention to the conclusions of The Gaza Tribunal Report, which documents testimony alleging British complicity in war crimes, crimes against humanity, and genocide.

The Gaza Tribunal was hosted in London in September of 2025. It provided a platform for survivors, witnesses and experts to uncover the devastating scope of Israel's genocide in Gaza and the true scale of Britain's involvement. Yesterday, we published the full report, which can be read here: Report | The Gaza Tribunal

The report provides substantial evidence for Israeli war crimes, crimes against humanity and genocide in Gaza. This includes:

1. The deliberate and near total destruction of the healthcare system in Gaza;
2. The destruction of the education system;
3. The targeting of journalists;
4. The creation of famine.

The report goes on to uncover the full scale of Britain's involvement in these atrocities, including:

1. The sale, supply and transfer of weapons. Senior civil servants have exposed cultures of deception surrounding Britain's assessment of Israel's violations of IHL, which formed the basis of UK arms export licensing decisions.
2. The performance of Royal Air Force (RAF) surveillance flights over Gaza, and the role of British air bases in facilitating the transport, refuelling and maintenance of military equipment.
3. The provision of political and diplomatic support, which has empowered Israel to commit atrocities with impunity.
4. The failure to impose sanctions and use other economic and diplomatic instruments to end Israel's illegal occupation of Palestinian territories.

As a permanent member of the UN Security Council, a High Contracting Party to the 1949 Geneva Conventions, a party to the Genocide Convention and the Rome Statute of the ICC, and a state with longstanding diplomatic, military and economic ties to Israel, the United Kingdom has heightened responsibilities in relation to Israel's conduct in Gaza and the wider Occupied Palestinian Territory (OPT). Those responsibilities stem from legal duties and obligations arising under treaty law, customary international law, and peremptory norms, as well as a series of rulings issued by the International Court of Justice (ICJ).

The report concludes that the British government has failed in its fundamental legal obligation to prevent genocide, which has contributed to the mass killing of Palestinian civilians and the wholesale destruction of civilian objects. Evidence suggests that the British government has been complicit in atrocity crimes, and in some instances may even have been an active participant in these crimes.

We are writing to affirm our commitment to work with the ICC in relation to the evidence presented in this report. This includes evidence of criminal complicity which could implicate British government ministers and officials, namely those who have authorized the continuation of economic ties with Israel, as well as the commission of arms trades, arm transfers and intelligence exchange.

We hope the Tribunal serves as a historical repository of evidence of British complicity in one of the greatest crimes of our time, with the aim of mobilising global support in the pursuit of justice, liberation and peace for the people of Palestine.

Yours sincerely,

Jeremy Corbyn MP, Dr. Shahd Hammouri, Prof. Neve Gordon
